Dream for the best. Be prepared for the worst. Enjoy life in between Once upon a time, there was a man who had a dream to bring 'light' to the household by inventing an affordable appliance. However, during his pursuit of bringing 'light' to the household, he failed around ten thousand times. He went through worst phases like even his entire house was burnt down at one point of time.

Nevertheless, he continued to work constructively, by experimenting again and again, only to become ~~success~~ successful by inventing 'electric bulb'. The man mentioned above is none other than Thomas Alva Edison.

The above anecdote highlights the importance for dreaming for the best and during the process we should be ready to accept failures. ~~It~~ It also shows, meanwhile, between success and failure, we should enjoy life by working constructively towards the cause.

In this essay we will see what does 'dream for the best' means, what does 'be prepared for the worst' means and what does enjoy life in between means. Further, we will explose

Why we should dream for the best and why we should be prepared for the worst. We will also discuss what ^{why} should we enjoy life in between.

Let us start. Dream for the best means that we should act with optimism and have faith in the process. We should be hopeful of achieving the desired result even in adverse situation. For instance, Mahatma Gandhi had the dream for Independent India even when British colonial power were at their peak.

Further, be prepared for worst means that we should be mentally prepared even if result don't go our way. We should not get devastated at failures. Rather we should handle them constructively by anticipating them in advance. For example, during freedom movement, Mahatma Gandhi.

was skeptical about violence and when Chauri Chaura ~~Incident~~ non cooperation movement as it was the worst phase of the movement.

Moreover, saying life in between means we should do constructive work in between the process of success and failure. We should hone our skills and learn from our mistakes with open mindset and jovial outlook.

Like, extending independence example, Mahatma Gandhi was involved in constructive work after worst phase - Chauri Chaura incident. He worked on strengthening and cultivating Satyagrah and non violence principles.

These constructive work during enjoyment phase ultimately helped in getting independence on 15th August, 1947

Having explored the deep meaning of quote, let us discuss why we need to dream for best

First, as it helps in easing of life activities. It helps in reducing human hardship. For instance, invention of aeroplane by Wright brothers brought the world closer and helped in realising the concept of global village.

Second, as it will help in preventing catastrophe and ensuring climate justice. For example, Paris Climate deal of 2015 will help in keeping global temperature below 2°C by 2100, as compared to pre industrial level temperature.

Third, dreaming for best will help in overcoming regressive mindset

Such a mindset promotes cancel culture and subordination of women. For instance, increasing acceptance of LGBTQ+ in the society especially after Navtej Singh

Jadhav judgement by Supreme Court. Election of Miss Bobby,

a transgender, ~~to~~ in Delhi Municipal election is a bright spot to the dream of inclusive society.

Extending further on the topic

'let us discuss why we should be prepared for the worst.'

It helps in keeping the rational outlook despite failure. It

NEXT IAS

helps us in keeping our spirits alive. For example, ISRO bounced back after Chandrayaan-2 failure with successful landing of Vikram lander on south pole of moon in Chandrayaan-3 at 6:04 pm on 23rd August, 2023.

Further, failure are part and parcel of life. Sometimes, failures are inevitable. For instance, Argentina lost against Saudi Arabia in league match of FIFA world cup. Additionally, sometimes failure gives us the zeal to bounce back by working on weakness. For example, Hima Bai Chaudhary, who won 49 kg silver medal in Tokyo Olympics, did not achieve any great feat in 2016 Rio Olympics. But her failure in 2016 acted as stepping stone to success in 2020. 25

Nevertheless, path to success is always fraught with failures and difficulties as seen in case of Ulysses path to Ithaca. Let us explore why should we enjoy life in between success and failure.

First, it helps in ensuring productivity in long term. ~~for~~ It gives us an opportunity to take small break to bounce back with fresh mind. For instance, Virat Kohli took one month break from cricket when he was out of form for long time. That break served as a turning point as he regained his form since that break.

Second, it helps in balancing various aspects of life. It helps in ensuring ~~best~~ professional - personal work life balance which helps in long term sustainability.

For example, Google work culture focuses on providing regular breaks for employees to freshen them up. This ensures increased focus on goals of the organisation

Having discussed various dimension of dream, success, failure and enjoying life in between, let us explore tools required to inculcate the attitude of dreaming and preparation for work.

First, we need to ensure dynamic parenting which provide supportive environment to the children and house members especially to girls.
For instance, father of Laxmi nurtured her independent attitude and bravery during her upbringing.

Second, we need to have supportive society which does not look down failures. Rather society should support the failed one to rise again and try again. Such society should be driven by virtue ethics like compassion and empathy.

Third, we should have robust good governance architecture facilitating dreams and innovation. For instance, Atal Tinkering Labs and seed capital to startups are step in right direction.

From the above discussion, we can observe that if we should endeavour to dream big and achieve big with optimism. However, at the same time we should be mentally prepared to accept failure as part of the process so that during the enjoying phase between success and failure, we can work constructively to take a leap towards the goal.

Thus, we can be like an ostrich who dig his head in sand as if no challenge exist or we can be like 'Wright brothers' who worked with indomitable spirit to invent aeroplane.

It is imperative upon us to follow footsteps of Wright brothers to ~~dream~~ ^{dream} big with an attitude of "Arise, awake and stop not till

the goal is achieved
